Gendered Intelligence, the UK's largest trans-led charity, runs a 5 days a week support line for those who need information and emotional support while waiting for gender affirmative healthcare. We work in partnership with the patients of Nottingham Centre for Transgender Health and the Laurels Exeter.

The calls are confidential and taken by trained trans and nonbinary staff who are experts in supporting people with their transitions. We are here to provide a supportive and listening ear to any questions and concerns you might have.
